1870 by James Brooks. Stock brick with dressings of red and blue brick and stone. High pitched slated roof. 3 storeys, 3 bays, very irregular. Gothic style, with large traceried window under central gable breaking eaves. Pointed relieving arches to windows. Continuous hoodmoulds and bands unify the facade. At right a chimney (partly taken down) rests on a corbel supported by long attached stone shaft. Appears disused at time of listing.

St Michael's Church School forms a group with the Church of St Michael and the Clergy House, Mark Street.
