

85th Amendment dated 12.01.05

LOWER CLAPTON ROAD
Loddiges Family Tomb, St
John at Hackney Churchyard
Gardens

491956

GV

II

Chest tomb. Portland stone. Chest has ree@d angle pilasters, inscription panels to each face set with inset corners. Ledger slab on top. A monument to the Loddiges family of horticulturalists. Conrad Loddiges (c1739-1826) founded the famous Loddiges nursery on Mare Street in Hackney in 1771, important for introducing many plants into the country. The nursery was subsequently directed by hisson, George Loddiges (1748-1846), and then his grandson Conrad Loddiges (1826-1865).

A fine mid-C19 chest tomb with historic interest as the Loddiges family tomb and that has group value with the Grade II* Church of St. John at Hackney and with other li@d monuments in the Churchyard.