Public Liability Insurance

Public Liability Insurance is required to provide third party cover against accidental death or personal injury to persons visiting or shopping in the markets within the London Borough of Hackney.

Public Liability Insurance protects market traders in the event of any accident arising from his or her business within the market place in respect of legal liability to pay compensation including legal cost relating to accidents when trading.

All traders are required to obtain Third Party Public Liability Insurance with regard to their stalls and goods when trading.

Public Liability Insurance cover is for a 12-month period and must be renewed immediately when due.

As a market trader, you are responsible for ensuring that your business has valid public liability insurance. It is a market trader's responsibility to provide the Market Service with updated Public Liability Insurance on an ongoing basis. The Market Service monitors all traders' Public Liability Insurance cover on a regular basis.

The minimum public liability cover required is £5 million
