Sexual orientation

We do not have official Hackney level data for sexual orientation, but the Integrated Household Survey carried out by the Office for National Statistics in 2016 provided the following results for London and England.

Sexual orientation	England	London
Heterosexual / Straight	93.0%	90.1%
Gay / Lesbian	1.2%	2.1%
Bisexual	0.7%	0.6%
Other	0.5%	0.5%
Don't know / Refused to say	4.5%	6.7%

The August 2018 GP patient survey indicated that, in Hackney there were comparatively high numbers of people who identify as gay or lesbian (5%), bisexual (2%), other (2%), a further 10% preferred not to say. The remaining 81% identify as heterosexual or straight. These figures may under-represent the size of the non-heterosexual population, given the problems involved in disclosure of sexual orientation.

Gender identity

Data on the transgender population is not available at a borough level. The Gender Identity Research and Education Society GIRES, currently estimate there are 650,000 (1% of the population) whose gender identity is incongruent with their assigned gender – this would equate to around 2,700 people in Hackney. According to NHS England, numbers seeking medical support are lower, although they have increased significantly in recent years.

Non-binary

Non-binary, 'genderqueer', 'transsexual' and 'androgynous' are terms used to describe those who choose not to identify with a particular gender.

The Practical Androgyny website estimates that around 0.4% of the UK population, 1 in 250 people in the UK is non-binary. This equates to around 1,200 people in Hackney.
